

To whom it May Concern:

As a filmmaking peer of Reed Clare's, I, Ramon Wilson, through my work at Relativity Media, am involved with sourcing, structuring, executing and managing film slate co-financing transactions totaling more than $1.8 billion which has resulted in the production of dozens of Hollywood films. I have negotiated financing transactions with banks, studios and investors, consulted studio executives on marketing strategies and been invited to speak on conference panels regarding independent film producing. I hold a B.A. degree from Yale University and completed a management program at Harvard Business School.

I have personally known Reed Clare for three years during which time we were mutually involved from pre production through postproduction in the making of the film 'KingdomCome'. Reed is a talented, intelligent, imaginative, hard working and fine collaborative artist who possesses integrity and a very positive and determined attitude. I would recommend Reed for appropriate film/TV projects as he is an emerging talent I believe in the acting/filmmaking profession.

Sincerely,

RELATIVITYMEDIA
